RE: TEM Analysis at 0.0004 Sensitivity 1-2 Days = $100.00/sample

Mr. Gasparro:

This letter and your return signature acceptance shall serve as confirmation of the agreed upon rates, turn-around times, and sensitivity requirements for the NYC DEP sampling project.

SCILAB/AMERISCI will provide said analysis for a fee of $ 100.00 per sample with a TAT of 24 to 48 hours. This offer is considered a "low-cost" item for SCILAB and is only offered for this one time event. It is offered as a good faith gesture to JLC for the many years of work we have done together. This good faith gesture is offered with our expectation that JLC will provide SCILAB/AMERISCI with a commitment of a FIRM NET 30-DAY PAYMENT SCHEDULE. In this regard, JLC shall be obligated to pay Finance Charges (1.9% per month) applied for all past due payments for this project. In addition, SCILAB/AMERISCI reserves the right to collect your client if payment is not obtained within the specified time frame. In addition, SCILAB's liability for any/all claims associated with this work shall be limited to the value of the analytical costs that we provide on the analytical project.

As an incentive to bring your entire balance current and ensure that this DEP balance is paid with a firm net 30 balance, SCILAB will discount this group of TEM Samples (0.0004 sensitivity) to $ 80 per sample if all of the following conditions are met by JLC:

- Payment in the amount of $ 10,000 for past due balance, delivered to SCILAB on or before April 14, 2003; AND
- Payment in the amount of no less than $ 5,000 for the recent current DEP project related work, delivered to SCILAB on or before April 28, 2003; AND
- All other work paid with a firm net 30 day schedule.

There will be no grace period nor flexibility with these conditions. Furthermore, due to the problems with JLC's payment history in the past, we must insist that results not be released until a signed copy of this agreement is returned to SCILAB/AMERISCI.

Sincerely,

Paul M. Mula
