Subject: Introducing www.LowerManhattan.info!

Hello all -

As many of you know, www.LowerManhattan.info is now up and running. Get online, and check out what it has to offer! We are very excited about it and hope that it will help meet the ever-growing need for information about Lower Manhattan's rebuilding. And, as always, we appreciate your feedback and ideas about how the site could be improved.

Additionally, we would ask that you circulate information about the site within your agencies and to as many people as possible. Below is the HTML email that you can forward to your staff announcing Lowermanhattan.info. Please note that just as you forward any other HTML email, you should erase any prior messages and the "original message" information (email address of sender, time stamp, subject line) before sending. Also note that when you press the "Forward" button, the HTML file becomes editable. Please do not alter any text or graphics within the HTML email or it will alter the entire look of the email.

If you need a non-HTML file for your agency, please let me know.

Many thanks for a great start!

Laurel
