

Gilsenan, Michael

From: Theodorellys, Penny
Sent: Thursday, October 24, 2002 10:24 AM
To: Gilsenan, Michael
Cc: Radhakrishnan, Krish
Subject: RE: 7S cleaning

The contractor was able to remove the back wall and replace without damaging and removing the shelving unit. I specifically addressed it with him. Removing the shelves would have created damaged and the contractor was able to get in behind them without removal. I can take another look if we need to.

-----Original Message-----

From: Gilsenan, Michael
Sent: Thursday, October 24, 2002 10:22 AM
To: Radhakrishnan, Krish
Cc: Theodorellys, Penny
Subject: FW: 7S cleaning

It just doesn't stop. PLS. let me know what you know. Thanks

-----Original Message-----

From: [REDACTED] PII
Sent: Wednesday, October 23, 2002 9:29 PM
To: Fitzpatrick.Robert@epa.gov
Cc: Michaelgi@Dep.nyc.gov; egesmer@gulges.com
Subject: 7S cleaning

Dear Bob,

It has come to my attention that our bookshelves were NOT removed so that cleaning could take place behind the shelves and fake walls that back the bookshelves. This was a definite special cleaning request by me in writing.

There was so much debris on and inside the 400 books on these shelves, the decision was made to throw out all the books because of health concerns. Therefore, the shelves need to be removed and cleaned (as well as the spaces behind the shelves) in order for the health risks not to be a problem for me and my family.

Since the bookshelves are still intact, it is apparent that they were never removed and cleaned. Please confirm to me ASAP that this will be attended to .

Please contact me as soon as you can regarding these concerns .

Thank you.

PII