Tough Love

"My relationship with firefighters from my point of view is exactly the same as it's always been: I love them. I respect them very, very much. I don't know if you've ever had a mayor that was as close to them as I've been. But I am not here to allow them to do things I would not allow anybody else to." — Mayor Giuliani, on news that as many as 20 more city firefighters may face charges stemming from Friday's ground-zero melee.
